for opportunities to share

We are so thankful for our recent time in the States. Many of you have been involved in sending us out. You have helped provide for our needs and have prayed for us faithfully. It was so great to get to gather with you and share about the things the Lord has done and the work He is continuing to accomplish. As we visited our supporting churches, I was reminded of Paul and Barnabas returning to Antioch. "And when they arrived and gathered the church together, they declared all that God had done with them, and how he had opened a door of faith to the Gentiles." (Acts 14:27) Praise God for all He is doing among the Deaf and for the opportunity to rejoice together in His goodness. We also were able to connect with a couple of new churches.

time with family

flying lessons with Grandpa soaked in summer fun, family, and friends

Along with the joy of sharing all that God is doing, we loved getting to be with friends and family at barbecues in back yards, watching a parade, going to a rodeo, and watching fireworks, among other things.

Although we did not get the chance to spend time with everyone, we were able to visit and share a meal with many of you in Oregon. It was such a blessing to reconnect with the people we love.

Gabe was able to get settled in with his grandparents and decided to take a gap year to focus on getting his pilot's license before pursuing other education.

It was wonderful to spend time with our daughter, Raeleigh, even though she had a busy summer working, house sitting, being on the ground crew for hot air balloons, and continuing to train for cross country. On top of time together around the house, we were able to do some special things with our kids like attending a Switchfoot concert and visiting the Oregon coast.

that lie ahead

We arrived in Kenya mid-October, with no children. Definitely an odd feeling. Although we miss our kids, we are thankful for the opportunities ahead for them. We look forward to seeing how the Lord will work in their lives and ours as well. The paths that lie ahead are rarely free from challenges. We are grateful for your prayers for our family.

thankful

for your generosity

Although our committed monthly support remains low, our financial needs have been met for this past year. Praise God!

We are grateful for the many tangible gifts you gave our children as they take on new challenges and adventures for themselves. Thank you for making such a big contribution to our lives through your prayers and gifts.

enriching

proficiency in translation

A week after we arrived, Josh headed off to a linguistics workshop just outside of Nairobi. Along with the eight participants from DOOR, five different hearing translation projects were represented. It was a great opportunity for all involved to learn and improve their translation skills.

upcoming

translation work

The Aela Mukdasan* SL translation team will be arriving in Nairobi directly after the linguistic workshop. Josh will be working to give final feedback and approval for their translated Bible passages prior to publication before the end of the year. Please pray for this work and the impact God's Word will have among this people group.
